NBM OF AFRICA MOURNS LATE CHIEF (DR.) EDWIN KIAGBODO CLARK, OFR, CON AND LATE PA AYO ADEBANJO

The news of the demised of Pa. Ayo Adebajo and Chief (Dr.) Edwin Kiagbodo Clark, OFR, CON were received with rude shock. They were respectively known as Grand Commander of the Yoruba and Niger Delta struggles. They took a bow at a time their invaluable contributions to the building of the Nigeria nation is mostly needed. They both lived an accomplished life. They worked hard and always followed the path of honesty.

We at NBM Of Africa Worldwide celebrate their legacies and not mourning them because they were rare gems sent by God to liberate the voiceless from shackles of oppression and injustice. The Organization identified with their struggle for the fight against oppression and injustice. They both brought the power of their presence, compassion and position to some of the most vital humanitarian and national issues of our time.

May the Almighty be with the departed Adebanjo and Ambakaderemo/Fuludu families. We have all lost two great icons. Let the memories of our heroes bring you some comfort. They were wise beyond their years. They were leaders, organizers and humanitarians we all loved.

May God bless you and comfort their immediate families and the Nigeria nation for these great and colossal loss.
